

New Hershey Halloween Candy for 2020

This year Hershey will feature four new delicious treats:

Vampires will take form in Hershey's Vampire Milk Chocolate Kisses, a scary sweet combination of milk chocolate and appropriately blood red strawberry creme. One bite and the to-die-for filling bursts in your mouth.

Hershey's Cookies 'N' Creme Fangs will feature a vampire fang design that make them ready-made for a fun selfie – and are sure to be popular with kids. Just bite off the bar's excess and you'll have fangs in no time.

Kit Kat fiends will be pleased to find that another addition – Witch's Brew – is being added to the mix. The ghostly green creme may look spooky, but it's actually a cauldron-friendly marshmallow flavor. (And don't worry. The limited-edition Kit Kat Pumpkin Pie Miniatures are also back by popular demand.)

This season, Reese's has transformed their classic – and the holiday's most popular candy – into the Franken-Cup. It has the same taste as the Reese's we grew up with, but with an eerie green creme chocolate shell.

Halloween must be near, I found Reese's peanut butter pumpkins out at a local gas station this weekend. Yes. I bought two. Which Halloween candy is your favorite?
